Thin sheet, on purpose. Level 7 lessons are reading-and-thinking lessons built on a long text, and the text is in the app. This sheet carries only the lesson's word list and writing task from the course data. Words here are not limited to taught sounds, because Level 1 to 4 already taught them all.
Goal: Practice the single most important habit found missing in the Stanford History Education Group's national study of student online reasoning: actually leaving the page to check who's behind it, on a real organization, before trusting what it

Write a paragraph (5–7 sentences): describe what you found searching Target A and Target B, and what changed between your first impression (reading each site's own "About" section) and your lateral-read impression (reading independent sources about them). Use lateral reading and GROWN-UP TIP Read the words together, then ask what each one means. Let your learner write in their own words. Do not rush: a few good sentences beat a full page. Five minutes is plenty: stop while it is still fun. Cheer for trying, not just for being right.
